

TABLE 1Manetho's Eighteenth Dynasty in Josephus, Africanus and Eusebius

This Table includes the first three kings of the Nineteenth Dynasty. Josephus doesn't specifically divide kings into numbered dynasties, but he does include these additional rulers in his king-list and ends his discussion of Egyptian kings at this point. Additionally, all three lists place Amenophis, an Eighteenth Dynasty king after the first Nineteenth Dynasty king.

Note: According to Syncellus, Africanus and Eusebius each inserted a sum line after Misphragmuthosis, alleging a total number of years down to the start of that pharaoh's reign. Africanus gave the sum as 69 years, Eusebius as 71 years. He also says that Africanus had a dynastic duration of 263 years but Eusebius had 348 years.

² Africanus omits the length of this reign.

³ In another version of Eusebius, preserved by Syncellus, the name given is Amosis.

⁴ Eusebius omits this reign.

⁵ In another version of Eusebius, preserved by Syncellus, the name given is Misphragmuthosis, the same as given in Africanus.

⁶ Two versions of Syncellus's Eusebius have different numbers. One has 36, the other 38.

⁷ Eusebius omits this reign.

⁸ Eusebius omits this reign.

⁹ Africanus omits this reign.
