

Table of Contents for Who Wrote the Gospels?

1. The Problem of Gospel Authorship
2. The Synoptic Problem
3. Did the Author of John Know the Synoptic Gospels?
4. Pilate's Dialogues in John: Evidence for a Lost Written Passion Narrative
5. The Gospels as They Were Written versus the Gospels as They Have Been Received
6. So, Who Wrote the Gospels?

Bibliography

Endnotes

Index

Tables

Table 2.1 Mark's Opening Narrative as it Appears in Matthew and Luke: An Illustration of a Common Sequence of Stories in the Synoptic Gospels

Table 2.2 Jesus Cures a Leper

Table 2.3 Jesus Heals a Paralytic

Table 2.4 The Calling of Levi/Matthew

Table 2.5 Examples of Verbal Agreement Between Matthew and Luke in the Double Tradition

Table 3.1 Sequential Comparison of John 5–6 to Mark

Table 4.1 Dialogue Between Pilate and Jesus in the Gospel of John

Table 4.2 Proposed Reconstruction of the Source Used by the Author of the Gospel of John for the Dialogue Between Pilate and Jesus

Table 4.3 Dialogue Between Pilate and the Jews from The Gospel of John

Table 4.4 Proposed Reconstruction of the Source Used by the Author of John for the Dialogue Between Pilate and the Jews